

Colombia: Awareness raising is more a question of intercultural communication and cooperation for building knowledge, than a quest of propaganda or a media problem. Therefore, we think there is a need to strengthen communication strategies as multicultural projects which will need to be better framed within the overarching Aichi goals, and help from SBSTTA is much needed for that