Madam/Sir,

Notification

Decision V/16 on Article 8 (j) and related provisions

The purpose of this notification is to invite Indigenous and local community organizations, and other relevant organizations, to contribute to the preparatory work on elements of decision V/16 of the Conference of the Parties (COP) to the Convention on Biological Diversity, concerning the implementation of article 8 (j) and related provisions.

A copy of decision V/16 is attached herewith. Issues for which Indigenous and local community organizations and other relevant organizations are invited to contribute are addressed below.

A. Case-studies to assess the effectiveness of existing legal and other appropriate forms of protection for the knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities

In paragraph 13 of decision V/16, the COP emphasized once again the need for case-studies requested in decisions IV/9, paragraphs 10(b) and 15, to enable a meaningful assessment of the effectiveness of existing legal and other appropriate forms of protection for the knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities.

The following format for the presentation of case-studies is suggested to facilitate the preparation of a synthesis report of the information submitted.

The deadline for the submission of case-studies is 31 March 2001 to enable the Secretariat to incorporate this information in the documentation for consideration at the second meeting of the Ad-Hoc Open-Ended Working Group on Article 8 (j).

Indicative format/outline for case-studies and relevant information

To the extent possible, case-studies should be short, succinct summaries of examples/experiences not exceeding 20-25 pages. A reasonable amount of footnotes is welcomed, to the extent they provide useful sources for further information. A hard copy and an electronic version (by floppy disk or via e-mail), in Word/Windows format would be appreciated.

In preparing the case-studies, authors are recommended to follow the outline as far as possible. However, if authors of case-studies feel it useful to include information not covered by the outline, they are encouraged to do so.

To: Indigenous and local community organizations and other relevant organizations

1. Overview.

Summary of the case-studies/information.

2. The influence of international instruments, intellectual property rights, current laws and policies on knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities embodying traditional lifestyles relevant for the conservation and sustainable use of biological diversity.

- International instruments
 - a) Identify international instruments (including regional and bilateral agreements) of relevance. These instruments may relate to such areas as environment and conservation, trade, aid, human rights, food and agriculture, and health.
- Intellectual Property Rights
 - a) what IPRs have been used to protect traditional knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities;
 - b) has there been any attempts to review IPRs with regard to implementation of Article 8(j);
 - c) what were the outcomes/major findings of the review?
- Current Laws and Policies (These should include laws and policies which operate at both national and sub-national levels. This may require some brief analysis as to how national and sub-national responsibilities are dealt with under the national constitution).
 - a) what current mechanisms are in place to protect traditional knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities;
 - b) existence of sui generis legislation;
 - c) other non-IPR laws (environment/natural resource/community self-governance/cultural heritage) which are being/could be used to protect traditional knowledge;
 - d) indigenous and local community use of common law remedies;
 - e) give examples of the way in which indigenous and local communities have used/attempted to use current laws/mechanisms.

B. Outline of a composite report on the status and trends in relation to Article 8 (j) and related provisions

One of the priority tasks of the programme of work, listed in paragraph 2 of the decision, is task 5 on the status and trends in relation to Article 8 (j) and related provisions. In this connection, the Executive Secretary is to prepare, for the next meeting of the Ad Hoc Working Group, an outline of a composite report on the status and trends regarding the knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities, a plan and a timetable for its preparation. The outline is to be based on advice submitted by Parties, Governments, indigenous and local communities and other relevant organizations regarding sources and availability of information on these matters. These entities are requested to submit the information and advice addressing the requirements of this task.

In considering the elements of an outline for the composite report on the current status and trends regarding the knowledge, innovations and practices of indigenous and local communities, Indigenous and local community organizations and other relevant organizations may wish to consider, inter alia, the following:

- a) The state of retention of traditional biodiversity-related knowledge and its application in the conservation and sustainable use of biodiversity in each of the major sectors of biodiversity, namely, human health, Arctic, agricultural, forest, dryland, marine and coastal, inland water and mountains;
- b) The identification and an assessment of factors, including gender and familial factors, which cause loss of traditional biodiversity-related knowledge and associated language and customary practices;
- c) The identification of activities, actions, policies, and legislative and administrative constraints that particularly discourage the respect, preservation and maintenance of traditional biodiversity-related knowledge;
- d) The identification and assessment of a range of measures, including policy, legal, legislative and administrative measures, and incentive and capacity-building measures, which could be implemented to reverse the loss of traditional biodiversity-related knowledge and promote its retention, preservation and maintenance;
- e) Trends regarding the implementation of Article 8(j) taking into account national contexts and any constraints affecting its implementation, and the effectiveness of such trend; and
- f) Timetable for the preparation of the composite report.

Indigenous and local community organizations, and other relevant organizations are invited to submit information on the above elements, as well as any other relevant information, to the Secretariat by 31 December 2000.

C. Guidelines or recommendations regarding developments proposed to take place on sacred sites and on lands and waters occupied or used by indigenous and local communities

Task 9, another priority task identified in the decision, provides that the Open-Ended Working Group is to develop, in cooperation with indigenous and local communities, guidelines or recommendations for the conduct of cultural, environmental and social impact assessments regarding any development proposed to take place on sacred sites and on lands or waters occupied or used by indigenous and local communities. Task 9 further provides that the guidelines and recommendations should ensure the participation of indigenous and local communities in the assessment and review.

To assist the Executive Secretary in the preparation of a background document concerning draft guidelines or recommendations for the consideration of the Open-Ended Working Group on Article 8 (j), Indigenous and local community organizations, and other relevant organizations are requested to submit detailed information relevant to this issue, including specific suggestions regarding the content of guidelines or recommendations, by 28 February 2001.

Thank you for your cooperation and continued support to the work of the Convention.

Accept, Madam/Sir the assurances of my highest consideration.

Yours sincerely,

Hamdallah Zedan
Executive Secretary
