6	6	25.With regards to process, submissions were consistent in their call for an inclusive, transparent and clear process for the development of the post 2020 global biodiversity framework. Most submissions noted the need for meaningful engagement of Parties, Academic institutions, indigenous peoples and local communities, UN and other intergovernmental organizations
10	7	b - Regional and global workshops – It is envisioned that a series of regional and global workshops will be organized. These workshops will allow for regional and global consultations as well as the sharing of experiences. These workshops would be formal and be open to Parties, indigenous peoples and local communities and stakeholders. An adequate level of participation of experts with experience in matters related to the two Protocols would be actively promoted.
