Date: 29 March 2022 - 10:00 CET

Title: Key issues as negotiations head to a close

Organizer: WWF

Venue: CICG, Room 10, 2nd floor

Live stream: cbd.int/live

Speakers:

- Guido Broekhoven, Head of Policy Research and Development, WWF International
- Vishaish Uppal, Director of Governance, Law and Policy, WWF-India.
- Florian Titze, Policy Advisor, International Biodiversity Policy, WWF-Germany

Ahead of the Geneva round of negotiations on a new global plan for biodiversity drawing to a close on 29 March, WWF experts provide insight on key issues and call on governments to step up efforts to overcome roadblocks.

Guido Broekhoven, WWF's head of delegation, will provide the state of play of the "must haves" for an ambitious global plan to tackle the nature crisis. He is joined by WWF global leads on finance and governance, access and benefit sharing.

WWF will be issuing its closing press statement later on 29 March.

Marco Lambertini, Director General of WWF International, and Guido Broekhoven and others are available for interview. Contact news@wwfint.org for further information.
